SAGE Co-Ed Discussion Group Actively Seeking Participants.

Wanted... mature members of the LGBT community to join the SAGE Co-Ed Discussion Group which meets twice a month at the Pride Center. Having been a member of successful group like this there are several reasons why supportive interaction with others can be a good thing for you.

Do you like people and getting to know others? I certainly do. A regularly scheduled get-together establishes a forum that encourages people getting to interact and know others. And, conversation is an effective way to make this happen. As mature members of the LGBT community, we have much in common based on our collective experiences in life and the fact that we are LGBT.

Although the focus of the meeting is conversation and discussion, there is a structure to these get-togethers that encourages participation and involvement. And that "structure" is by responding to questions posed to those in attendance. We don't just get together and hope somebody starts to converse. Rather, the facilitator (right now that is me) asks the group members a question. Members respond orally. Over time you really get to know the background, experiences, aspirations, likes and dislikes, etc., of those in attendance. You also get to understand that others might have a much different perspective on an issue or topic than your own. That's a good thing. There isn't a meeting like this that I have attended where I didn't feel enriched or come away with new insights. In other words, one can learn a lot from hearing (really listening) to the responses of others.

The questions asked are of a general nature and are considered "safe" to be asked in public! Some questions will bring the group down "memory lane" or be related to past experiences, current events, our family backgrounds, work experiences, social interactions with others, and a range of other issues related to having lived a long life. Topics avoided are politics, religion, and personal questions of a sexual nature as these tend to be either too personal or confrontational. Furthermore, anyone certainly has the freedom "to pass" on any question for whatever reason. I find it just as amazing to hear another's response that is similar to mine or vastly different. That offers new perspectives and insights into the lives of others — and these others may well indeed become friends — trusted friends.

It might be helpful to provide an example of a recently posed question that was very well received by the group and provided for some interesting discussion/interaction. The question posed was the following: "Name a favorite song of yours that is at least 50 years old." Group members knew the songs and musicians from their earlier lives that were their favorites. It also reminded others of many songs and memories related to that time period. The question was safe and responses were not only fun to hear but very heart-felt. Also, participants do not know the questions in advance. That really encourages you to think fairly quickly — if not spontaneously. And thinking is good!

This group has been meeting since last fall. We are still new and we need more good-natured participants to join us. Furthermore, we really need more women to join us. A regularly scheduled gathering like this with members of both genders provides insight, understanding and perspective. This can be fascinating.

You are being encouraged to become involved in this kind experience. If you have the time, willingness, and interest in others, then us a try.

We meet at the Pride Center on the first and third Thursdays of each month at 1 pm. Meetings last no more than two hours with a short break after the first hour. Participation is free so there is no expense involved. All you really need to do is show up and let us hear from you! People in the group are respectful and polite. People are entitled to their own opinions. The group is non-confrontational so you should feel comfortable with your participation. Everybody is welcomed and I look forward to getting to know you and you just might like getting to know others. People can be so fascinating. Come see for yourself.

Upcoming meeting dates are as follows: June 5th, June 19th, July 3rd and July 17th (first and third Thursdays of the month) at 1pm at the Pride Center in Room B208. Mark your calendars.

NOTES FROM THE SAGE CO-ED DISCUSSION GROUP (AT THE PRIDE CENTER)

The LGBT friendly SAGE Co-Ed Discussion Group meets on the first and third Thursdays of each month at 1 pm at the Pride Center. The format for the group is one of questions/answers. The group facilitator asks a question and participants respond.

When we are asked questions, we are often forced to consider situations in a different way or from the perspective of another person. I find it amazing to hear the good ideas presented by others — often very different from my own answer. Such an approach can expand one's thinking and that is usually a good thing!

Through conversation with other mature LGBT people we can get to know some really fascinating individuals. Consider joining us to hear what your peers have to say and they too can hear from you. Our meeting dates for June are June 5 and June 19. Mark your calendars and plan on joining us.

NOTES FROM THE SAGE CAMERA CLUB

Hello Shutterbugs,

The SAGE Camera Club was birthed in October of 2013, and we already have 19 active photographers, a wealth of expertise, and a few award-winning professionals. These pros are having their work shown about town in various venues. Twelve of our shutterbugs attended our last monthly meeting in April, and a great time of fellowship and learning was had, as we learned a lot about our own personal cameras.

Our Photo Op at the Sunrise Lane area was well attended, as was our May Monthly Meeting. Our next Photo-Op will be on June 10th, 2014 at 1PM at the Pride Center, and we'll be walking along Wilton Drive, taking pictures of the natural habitat of South Florida residents. Our June monthly meeting will take place on Saturday, June 28th, 2014 at the Pride Center, at 1PM.

If you have any interest at all in cameras or photography, please join us at these gatherings. I guarantee that not only will you have a lot of fun you will learn a lot about taking better pictures.

NOTES FROM THE MEN'S DROP-IN

It seems to me that our dear snowbird friends are staying in South Florida a lot longer than they have in the past. Perhaps it has to do with climate change or the brutal winter up north or the enjoyable and fun times they experience every Wednesday at the Men's Drop-In. I am happy to say that our attendance is robust and the conversation is interesting, timely, and informative.

I really enjoy the new guys who show up. They are immediately made to feel welcome and the regulars make a concentrated effort to introduce themselves. We must be doing something right because they invariably return the next week. Sometimes they bring a friend. This makes me very happy. I am really proud of this group; a fine collection of well-rounded gentlemen who certainly know how to enjoy their senior years.

As I have said many times before: socialization is very important to our well being. So, come and socialize.

I hear that Allen Sandler has a summer job managing the shoe department at Povarello. Charlie Scarcella is managing the concession stand at the discount movie theater and SAGE members get an extra scoop of ice cream when they order from Charlie. Sonny Miller will be travelling to Africa to set up Coffee & Conversation events in major cities while, once again, Jim Anderson will be managing a Jiffy Lube here in South Florida. Carl Barton is applying for the maitre'd position at Stork's while Dr. David Goldberg will manage a music shop that specializes in rap and techno.

Richard Werner has landed a job as a greeter at local casino. Allen Churchman will be running the parking valet concession at the same casino. Fred Vega will be the in-store design consultant for Faith Farm while Philip Norris will, once again, serve as wardrobe consultant to her majesty the queen.

To all of you Drop-In regulars keep on dropping in. If you have never attended, we meet every Wednesday from 1-3PM at the Pride Center. Stop by...you will receive a warm welcome.

Well, the doldrums of summer are officially upon us... but that will not stop your intrepid SAGE Social Committee from arranging the finest in dining and entertainment at a reasonable price. For our June event, we will once again be visiting the wonderful Peter Pan Diner for a Meet-Up. The event will be on Tuesday, June 17th, 2014, at 5:30PM, at the restaurant. Since this is a meet-up, there will be no need for reservations or a price-fixed menu. You just show up and eat and drink whatever you want amongst your SAGE friends. We will have the back part of the restaurant, and we're looking forward to seeing you there.

Attendees at the Briny Pub Lunch Meet-Up had a wonderful time and great food in April, and I'm sure we all enjoyed the La Bamba Dinner on May 15th. We have a great lineup of events for the rest of the year, culminating in our Grand Gala 20th Anniversary/Holiday Party on December 14th at the Westin. We are going all out to make this a special event, as we will have Sissy and Damon for our entertainment, as well as the great food and service and extras we always receive at the Westin Cypress Creek.

Mark your calendars, and fill out your monthly flyers when you get them, as we have a full slate of great social events planned. See you next month.

Ken Lowery and Carl M. Galli

In celebration of its triumphant "return" to Broadway, Hedwig and the Angry Inch is making its encore presentation as our June 16th movie.

It stars Director and Co-Writer (with Stephen Trask) John Cameron Mitchell as the rock-and-rolling transgender hero/heroine who sets out from Berlin with big ambitions and much sarcasm - and very little else. (After all, its tag-line is "An anatomically incorrect rock odyssey".) While looking for fame and fortune, Hedwig also is looking for her one true love, Tommy Gnosis (a very hot, very young Michael Pitt).

First released in 2001, the film went on to gain commercial success slowly; and only after word-of-mouth caught up with its critical reception. It won 28 major film awards (including Austin, Berlin, Deauville, Florida, GLAAD, Los Angeles, National Board of Review, and Sundance) and was nominated for 29 others (including the Golden Globes).

With young gender-benders in the on-screen band (Stephen Trask as Skszp; Theodore Liscinski as Jacek; Rob Campbell as Krzysztof; Michael Aronov as Schlafko; and, most notably, Miriam Shor as Yitzhak) this is a sound and sight treat for the 21st Century.

From IMDb.com: "I got a surprise that was entirely unexpected: what I experienced was the best new film I had seen in years. And I mean that. Hedwig and the Angry Inch is equally hilarious and touching. Not that I want to spread clichés, but I seriously laughed and I seriously cried, often simultaneously. This manages to be the best American comedy since, damn, Preston Sturges was still writing and directing. It's easily the best movie musical since Cabaret. It's also one of the most heartfelt and passionate dramas, and one of the best character studies I've ever seen... Hedwig is a heroine for anyone who's ever felt that they've been treated like crap their entire life. I wanted to clap for and support Hedwig emotionally throughout the entire film."

R-rated, and running just 95 minutes, Hedwig and the Angry Inch will screen at 4PM, Monday, June 16th, in room 204 of the Pride Center. Dinner will follow.

(Note: The new time - 4PM.)
