October 2014

5th Annual Senior Health Expo at Pride.

The temperature is turning a bit cooler (thank goodness!) and our snowbird friends are beginning to return. Traffic is getting busier and our beaches more crowded. Great SAGE events are being scheduled and The Senior Health Expo at The Pride Center arrives on Saturday, October 18th. This year's event - the fifth, no less - promises to hit it out of the park - Equality Park, that is.

Vendors who have registered for The Expo will be offering valuable information on a wide array of services that are important to our seniors, including wellness and preventative care, senior living facilities, long term care, Medicare, legal issues and home care agencies. With over 50 vendors that have already committed to be a part of this year's event, Bruce Williams, Senior Services coordinator at The Pride Center, tells us that The Expo has been sold out for several weeks now.

The service providers exhibiting at The Expo have shown that they respect and understand our community, says Bruce Williams, Senior Services Coordinator at The Pride Center. "We want the LGBT community to be aware of available local, state and national resources and we want to be sure those resources are sensitive to and supportive of our needs and not just chasing the LGBT dollar."

As in the past Expos, there will also be a number of engaging educational seminars focusing on topics of particular interest to the mature LGBT community, as well as stations offering a variety of medical tests and lots of give-aways and great door prizes. The event is completely free and there will be morning refreshments served and a free lunch at noon for the first 400 attendees.

The event is only possible through the support of many generous sponsors. The Premier Sponsor this year is Broward Health and the Presenting Sponsor is AIDS Healthcare Foundation (AHF). Several of the Five Star Properties will again be represented, including The Park Summit as a Sapphire Sponsor. Emerald Sponsors include AT&T, Vitas Innovative Hospice Care, Carefree Insurance and Hospice of the Palm Beaches. Our Ruby Sponsors are Sunshine Health, Johnson & Johnson, Emerald Elite Home Care, Garden Plaza at Inverrary, Senior Medical Associates, Midland Medical and Pride One. Also, on hand, will be Walgreens, Law Offices of Stephanie Schneider, FirstLantic Home Care, UniMed, David Treece Financial, Assisted Living Lifestyles, David Lerner Associates and Atlas Care Management. No less important to making it happen are the collaborating community partners which include Futurity First Insurance Group, Gilda's Club, SAGE, The Peninsula, Sun Serve, Women in Network, and The Pride Center's Senior Advisory Council.

The Expo runs from 10 AM until 2 PM on Saturday, October 18th. Be sure not to miss this great event!

CO-ED DISCUSSION GROUP TO MEET ONLY ON THIRD THURSDAY OF THE MONTH

Rather than meet twice a month, the decision has been made for the Co-Ed Discussion Group to meet only once a month—the third Thursday of the month. With so many different activities and meetings scheduled via the Pride Center, there does not appear to be a need to meet two times a month. So, we will now be meeting once a month and I look forward to seeing our regular participants when we do meet. Of course it would be great to have new members join us and meeting just once a month might be easy to fit this activity into your schedule. The conversations can be fascinating. So, if you like talking with others and hearing what other mature LGBT people think and feel then consider joining us. I must admit that it is really nice to get to know new people and our meetings really have provided that opportunity. Thursday, October 16th is the date for the monthly October meeting. We meet upstairs at the Pride Center at 1 pm. Join us if you can.

NOTES FROM THE MEN'S DROP-IN

In the musical "West Side Story" the character, Maria, sings a show stopping number called "I Feel Pretty." In that song she sings 'It's alarming how charming I feel.' Sometimes at a Drop-In meeting I look around the room and listen to the guys and I think 'what a charming group of gentlemen.' In addition to being charming they are an interesting, well-informed group who are truly enjoying their senior years here in South Florida. We come together each week to laugh, banter and share experiences. There is good-natured ribbing and occasional sharing of personal interests. I always leave a Drop-In meeting feeling good knowing I have spent time with guys who enjoy each other's company and look forward to spending time together.

You also get to learn a lot with such a diverse group of men leading active and interesting lives. It is fun to hear about vacationing in some exotic locale or some local campground in an RV and enjoying nature. At a clothing optional campground one of our members takes his dogs with him. However, he leaves his pet bird at home. He was telling us about the bird's extensive vocabulary at one of our meetings and one day he recorded the bird chattering away and brought the recording to our next meeting for all to hear. Lots of laughs.

If you are celebrating a milestone birthday (75, 80, 85, 90 and above) please call the SAGE office to register for our annual Milestone Birthday Celebration where you will be honored at a luncheon. The celebration takes place in January at the Pride Center. Note...if you are anywhere in your 90s you are eligible to join in. The celebration is being planned by the SAGE Social Committee whose members work hard to bring fun and innovative programs to our membership.

The Men's Drop-In meets every Wednesday from 1-3PM at the Pride Center.

In Memoriam

Richard Plant a longtime member of SAGE and a dependable and enthusiastic volunteer died recently.

Richard attended most SAGE social functions. He was always smiling and was an animated conversationalist, who kept his table mates laughing with stories of his family and growing up in Philadelphia. Richard was a longtime volunteer helping prepare the SAGE newsletter for mailing, enjoying his collating and envelope stuffing while chatting away about the events of the day with his fellow volunteers.

Ken Goodman, SAGE president said "Richard never refused me when I asked him to volunteer no matter what the project entailed". Former SAGE president Carl Galli said "Richard was a longtime loyal SAGE member who always smiled and greeted everybody warmly. He will be sorely missed".

Richard taught school in Philadelphia and retired to south Florida. He leaves his longtime partner George Hibbard. Our condolences to George and Richard's families.

HELP WANTED...

EDITOR/GRAPHIC DESIGNER

As you all know SAGE is a nonprofit organization that depends on volunteers to accomplish our mission. Our current Newsletter (The Sage) Editor and Graphic Designer will be retiring by the end of April. Sharron has been a force in making our newsletter a major part of the SAGE experience. She has for the last six years transformed the newsletter into a major communications and news tool for SAGE. Her contribution of time and talent has been overwhelming. Sharron has begun to take on other activities in the community that have made it difficult for her to continue this effort. She has given us a very long notice so that we can find a replacement and she can work with the individual(s) to continue the extraordinary job she has accomplished. Sharron will continue to be there to help as much as her time permits.

If you have the skills to format and edit the SAGE newsletter and are willing to commit the time and effort, please send a synopsis of your qualifications and previous experience and we will get back to you as quickly as we can. Please send the information to the SAGE Office at P.O. Box 70516 Oakland Park, FL 33307 or email the information to sagesofl@gmail.com and goodkenfl@gmail.com. Thank you all for your willingness to help keep SAGE performing the functions that our community needs and deserves.

Kenneth Goodman
President, SAGE of South Florida, Inc.

HELP WANTED...

LUNCH & LEARN/DISTRIBUTION VOLUNTEERS

We also have a couple of other positions that are needed to keep the organization running smoothly. Some of you know Les Oldenbusch who has been a member of SAGE for over ten years. Les turned 92 this year and is one of our oldest members. Les has been volunteering since he first joined SAGE and manages two important jobs for SAGE.

He is the person who stores, buys, sets up and takes away the stuff we use at our Lunch & Learns each first Saturday of the month. The storage and setup of the plates, knives, forks, spoons, napkins, table coverings, etc. are his responsibility. Because of his age he is unable to do the lifting and setup all by himself. He will need at least one other younger person to help him. The job requires coming to his home before the Lunch & Learn to pack his car. He lives in Palm Aire not far from the center. Once loaded the helper(s) can leave their car in his driveway and go to the Skolnick Center and help him setup. After the meeting the volunteer(s) will go back to his home and help unload the car. If you would be able to help please contact me.

Les also is in charge of getting the Newsletters that need to be mailed collated with the flyers for the month and get them in envelopes and postage stamped for the post person to pick up. This usually takes place on the 3rd Wednesday of each month at his home in Palm Aire. The job usually takes about 2 hours with about two to four members helping and chatting. If you can help join the group please contact me.

Please send the information to the SAGE Office at P.O. Box 70516 Oakland Park, FL 33307 or email the information to sagesofl@gmail.com and goodkenfl@gmail.com. Once I receive your reply I will set up a time to meet and discuss the job with you and review your qualifications. Thank you all for your willingness to help keep SAGE performing the functions that our community needs and deserves.

Kenneth Goodman
President, SAGE of South Florida, Inc.

SAGE COMPUTER CLUB

The SAGE Computer Club was founded by SAGE President Ken Goodman several years ago to bring his extensive knowledge of All-Things-Computer to the members of SAGE, and to the GLBT community. This labor of love was based on Ken's desire to return his knowledge to those who may have been overwhelmed by technology. Ken is a wonderful speaker, who can teach at all levels, from novice to expert. His grasp of the culture allows him to answer any computer question with aplomb. His experience allows him to share about Apple, Microsoft, PCs, desktops, laptops, tablets, smartphones, viruses, bugs, security issues, buying a new computer, and a myriad of other topics that he is intimately familiar with.

A typical meeting starts with news of current technology and updates of specific value to the electronic community. New products, upcoming technology, and general news are fair game in this area. Next, Ken answers questions from the floor on any subject of general or specific issues, trouble-shooting, and any area the questioner wants to discuss. Ken has his own computer linked to a large-screen television, and can readily plug-in someone else's computer to show them exactly how to solve their problem. Weekly meetings last from 4PM to 5:15PM at the Pride Center, Room 206, on Wednesdays.

With a meager budget of $1,200,000 and no major stars; a virtually untried former-carny as a director; re-used sets, costumes and props from cheap old Hammer and Universal horror films; music taken from a British play (by Richard O'Brien, who plays Riff-Raff) -which failed when it was first performed on Broadway (only 49 performances at the Belasco) -and initially scathing reviews, our October 20th film had all the earmarks of a flop. And flop it did -initially: Playing to totally empty seats upon its first release in 1975. (As a matter of fact, when the film first opened in traditional release, it bombed. Meat Loaf (who plays Eddie) said he attended an opening week performance with director Jim Sharman in the Midwest, where the theater was empty except for the two of them.)

But then something strange and miraculous happened. This mash-up of B-movie science fiction/horror/comedy/music caught the zeitgeist (some say it helped create it) and became the most successful "cult film" in history.

"The Rocky Horror Picture Show" is still playing to this day, somewhere in the world, including our own Classic Gateway Theatre. (One Theatre in Muenchen, Germany, The Museum Lichtspiele Cinema has screened the movie every week since June 24, 1977 -earning it a place in the Guinness Book of Records.)

According to Wikipedia: "Still in limited release nearly four decades after its premiere, it has the longest-running theatrical release in film history."

To date, it has earned a staggering $140 million in the U.S. -plus another $200 million overseas. Making it one of 20 Century Fox's most successful films.

And it has finally earned some respect: It was selected for preservation in the United States National Film Registry by the Library of Congress in 2005, and also placed in the Science Fiction Hall of Fame (after it was initially denied).

As for the rest of the cast: Tim Curry plays the sweet transvestite, Dr. Frank N. Furter. Patricia Quinn, Magenta. Nell Campbell, Columbia. Jonathan Adams, Dr. Everett V. Scott. Charles Gray, the Criminologist. (All reprising their London theatrical roles.)

Leads Susan Sarandon (as Janet Weiss) and Barry Bostwick (as Brad Majors), though not yet stars, were brought in upon Fox's insistence that U.S. Actors be hired.

Peter Hinwood (a former male model) played the perfect Rocky, but he couldn't sing. He mimed the vocals during filming. (In post-production, Australian actor/singer Trevor White was hired to dub the final vocals for the film.)

From IMDb.com: "The movie itself has been described too many times for me to give a synopsis. I will however say that it is really a collage of feelings, ranging from fear, trepidation, excitement, lust, joyous sexual fulfillment, more lust, tragedy, and a strange sadness at the end. Basically, all the emotions that make life worth living, in an hour and a half....Don't go expecting a logical, coherent storyline. Its about experience, not narrative....At the end, there is a message here, hidden under all the seemingly blissful hedonism.... By the way, there is no nudity or actual sex in the entire movie. For a movie with its reputation, that's pretty amazing....it is strangely quaint and innocent. But then, that's what true enjoyment of sensuality should be."

And now a disclaimer: To celebrate Halloween, I was originally going to show a thought-provoking gay, independent "horror" movie (sans monsters). Ron urged me not to; saying it was too esoteric. He suggested "Rocky...". I thought everyone would have seen it by now. He said most of us are too busy snoring (or peeing) when the movie shows. Well, you all know how persuasive he can be.

So I thought back to the crazy mid-70's -and the 27 times I drove down to Coconut Grove to experience it (sometimes with my friend Jack Ley in tow). And I rekindled all my old passion for it.

(As the movie says: "Don't dream it - be it!")

"The Rocky Horror Picture Show" screens on Monday, October 20th in Room 204 of the Pride Center. At 4PM. We will be showing the extended British cut, running 100 minutes. Rated R. Dinner will follow.

Please help us by returning your chair to stacks against the side walls. Thank you.

See you at the movie!
